Since Donald Trump was elected president in 2016, the Democrats have been obsessed with him. They have spent countless hours investigating him, impeaching him, and trying to defeat him in the 2020 election. But what is the reason for this obsession? Why can't the Democrats seem to let go of Trump?

There are a few possible explanations for the Democrats' obsession with Trump. First, Trump is a very polarizing figure. He has a strong base of supporters who love him, but he also has a large number of detractors who despise him. This polarization makes Trump a very easy target for the Democrats. They can use him to rile up their base and to raise money for their campaigns.

Second, Trump is a very unconventional president. He breaks all the rules and norms of politics. This makes him a very unpredictable opponent for the Democrats. They don't know how to deal with him, and they are constantly caught off guard by his actions.

Third, Trump is a very successful president. He has presided over a period of economic growth and prosperity. This makes him a very difficult opponent for the Democrats to defeat. They know that if they want to win back the White House in 2020, they need to find a way to beat Trump.

Whatever the reason, the Democrats' obsession with Trump is not healthy for the country. It is preventing them from focusing on the issues that matter to the American people. It is also dividing the country and making it more difficult to find common ground.

The Democrats need to find a way to move on from their obsession with Trump. They need to focus on the issues that matter to the American people and on finding ways to unite the country.

The Democrats' Investigation of Trump

One of the most high-profile examples of the Democrats' obsession with Trump is their investigation of him. The investigation began in 2017, and it has been ongoing ever since. The investigation has focused on a number of different issues, including Trump's ties to Russia, his financial dealings, and his obstruction of justice.

The Democrats have spent millions of dollars on the investigation, and they have subpoenaed a large number of witnesses. However, the investigation has not produced any evidence of wrongdoing by Trump. In fact, the investigation has been widely criticized as a partisan witch hunt.

The Democrats' investigation of Trump is a waste of time and money. It is preventing them from focusing on the issues that matter to the American people. It is also dividing the country and making it more difficult to find common ground.

The Democrats' Impeachment of Trump

In December 2019, the Democrats impeached Trump on charges of abuse of power and obstruction of Congress. The charges stemmed from Trump's efforts to pressure Ukraine to investigate his political rival, Joe Biden.

The Democrats' impeachment of Trump was a partisan affair. No Republicans voted in favor of impeachment. The impeachment did not result in Trump's removal from office. He was acquitted by the Senate in February 2020.

The Democrats' impeachment of Trump was a mistake. It was a partisan attack on a duly elected president. It did not result in Trump's removal from office. It only served to further divide the country.

The Democrats' Efforts to Defeat Trump in 2020

The Democrats are determined to defeat Trump in the 2020 election. They have nominated Joe Biden as their presidential candidate. Biden is a former vice president and a moderate Democrat. He is seen as the best chance to defeat Trump.

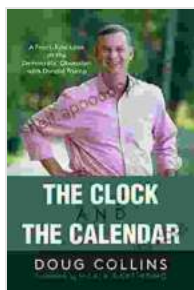

The Democrats are running a very negative campaign against Trump. They are attacking him on his handling of the COVID-19 pandemic, his economic policies, and his character.

It is too early to say whether the Democrats will be successful in defeating Trump in 2020. However, they are certainly giving it their all.

The Democrats' obsession with Trump is not healthy for the country. It is preventing them from focusing on the issues that matter to the American people. It is also dividing the country and making it more difficult to find common ground.

The Democrats need to find a way to move on from their obsession with Trump. They need to focus on the issues that matter to the American people and on finding ways to unite the country.

Only then will the country be able to heal and move forward.
