Divya's roots are deeply embedded in the vibrant tapestry of India, where she spent her formative years. Born into a modest family, she often accompanied her mother to work at a local garment factory. It was within these bustling walls that her fascination with textiles and fashion was first ignited.

As a young girl, Divya possessed an unyielding determination to make her mark in the world. She excelled in her studies, earning a bachelor's degree in engineering from one of India's top universities. But it was her passion for fashion that truly set her heart ablaze.

The Birth of Curb: Turning Dreams into Reality

The launch of Curb, a moment of triumph for Divya Victor and the culmination of years of hard work and dedication.

In 2001, with a mere $500 in her pocket, Divya founded 'Curb'. Armed with an unwavering belief in herself and her vision, she began her journey in a small rented space in Mumbai. The early days were marked by challenges and setbacks, but Divya's resilience and determination never wavered.

As Curb's reputation for high-quality fabrics and innovative designs grew, the brand began to attract a loyal customer base. Divya's keen eye for detail, coupled with her ability to anticipate market trends, proved to be a winning formula.

Global Expansion: Conquering New Horizons

With her brand firmly established in India, Divya set her sights on global expansion. She opened flagship stores in major cities around the world, bringing Curb's unique blend of style and sophistication to a discerning international clientele.

Today, Curb is a globally recognized brand, synonymous with luxury and innovation. Its products are sold in over 50 countries, and the brand has become a symbol of contemporary Indian fashion.
