Re-Centering Teachers of Color

By Dr. Maria Gutierrez

Re-Centering Teachers of Color is a powerful and timely book that examines the intricate experiences, challenges, and triumphs of teachers of color in the United States. Drawing on extensive research and personal narratives, Dr. Maria Gutierrez offers a nuanced and comprehensive analysis of the systemic barriers that teachers of color face and the strategies they employ to navigate and overcome these obstacles.

This groundbreaking work explores the profound impact that teachers of color have on students, schools, and communities. It highlights the unique perspectives, cultural knowledge, and resilience that teachers of color bring to the classroom, and it argues for the urgent need to re-center teachers of color within educational discourse and practice.

Dr. Gloria Ladson-Billings, Professor Emerita, University of Wisconsin-Madison

“A must-read for anyone who cares about educational equity. Dr. Gutierrez's incisive analysis and compelling storytelling provide a deep and nuanced understanding of the experiences of teachers of color.”
